

Dont Let Bullies Ruin Your Life

Bullying is rife in schools and working environments throughout the Western world. High profile incidents have pushed this issue to the top of the agendas of many governments with the USA leading the way in severely clamping down on this appalling behaviour, particularly in schools. Bullying ruins the lives of tens of thousands of people, including those who unfortunately are so traumatised that they commit suicide, also known as bullycide. In many cases, those who live to tell the tale are so scarred by their experiences that they live their lives as a shadow of the person they have the potential to be. This book tackles bullying head on. As someone who has been verbally abused for a significant part of her life, Belinda Nnoka fully understands the kaleidoscope of emotions, patterns of behaviour and defensive coping mechanisms that victims of bullying develop. The problem here is that we devote so much time and energy to coping with our past or present dilemmas we forget that there is something we can do to take control of our lives and be happy. Dont Let Bullying Ruin Your Life attempts to speak gently and lovingly to the wounded soul, by way of personal experience and easily applicable steps that can help someone still consciously or unconsciously reliving the terror of their past or present come out from under the shadow of their negative experiences and take their place as vivacious, intelligent, valuable contributors to their communities.
