

InDesign 7.5 On-Demand: Publishing in the new paradigm

Help for authors & teachers publishing in the new millennium The focus of this book is very sharp. It is designed for people who are designing books and booklets with very limited capital and few personnel resources. It is a sharing of techniques for the new wave of author/pastor/teacher/designers who need to get their work published digitally & online. It is designed to help those of you without the resources, connections, or the inclination to intrigue the large, mass-market media houses with their incredible capital requirements and marketing needs. This book will enable you to produce the books and teaching materials required by the vision you have been given. You no longer need a huge budget or years of production time to produce professional books distributed worldwide. If you do not do the book layout yourself, give a copy of this to your designer. This book teaches you how to write and publish a printed book, convert it to an ePUB, make a downloadable PDF, a Kindle book, and more. This is what you need to know. Follow David through the process as he produces a book in print. Then he converts it to PDFs, ePUBs, Kindle, and various other ebook formats. Get a handle on the actual production process as shared by a man who has been doing it for over forty years.
