

My Dads Going to Yale

Eddie has problems with two boys who taunt him at school. Now he faces children at school who know about his father being in jail. Eddie is humiliated, scared, and unsure how to handle this situation. His friend, Jeff, has parents who are going through a divorce. Eddie consoles Jeff, even though the other children say cruel things to him. When Eddie's class is told about his father's problem as a means of helping Eddie, he denies that anything is wrong, yet cannot keep it hidden when the story appears on the evening news on television. Jeff continues being Eddie's friend, regardless of what happened. Through the lawyer appointed to handle his father's case, Eddie learns about the legal process. He learns about bail, preliminary hearings, plea bargains, pre-sentence reports, and jail. He also learns how to turn a bad situation into a positive one.
