For the last three years 26 year old tech Billionaire, Brittany, has found herself stuck in an endless loop trying to relive her past. She sold the business she started when she was only 23 for Billions of dollars. Now she is bored and lonely. She spends most of her free time introducing other females to the joys of being with another female. It has been fun, but Brittany longs for a more meaningful connection to another female. One day while coming home from a friends house, she meets Alexandra a retail clerk. Something about Alexandra immediately captivates her, and Brittany knows it is about more than just her devastating good looks. Brittany feels that special tingly magic whenever she is in her presence. Brittany soon finds herself stopping by Alexs work frequently to buy small household items just so she can see Alex. Gradually, the two begin conversing and slowly a friendly relationship develops between them. One day Alex confides to Brittany, she is looking for a new job. Brittany seizes the opportunity by offering Alex a job as her personal assistant. Alex accepts the position and Brittany gets busy preparing for Alexs first day of work. Brittany knows getting Alex to see things her way is going to be a challenge because Alex has only dated guys, but Brittany liked challenges and she really likes Alex.
